THE X(1900–3600) REGION

This high-mass region is covered nearly continuously with evidence for peaks of various widths and decay modes. As no satisfactory grouping into particles is yet possible, we list together in order of increasing mass all the $Y=0$ bumps above 1900 MeV that are coupled neither to $\overline{N}N$ nor to $e^{+}e^{-}$.